About Program

A Doctoral Symposium is a structured academic forum designed to support doctoral students in presenting and discussing their ongoing research. It provides them with an opportunity to share their ideas, receive constructive feedback, and network with peers, faculty, and industry experts.

Objectives of the Program

- To provide doctoral scholars with an opportunity to present and discuss their research work in a scholarly environment.
- To facilitate constructive feedback from experienced academics, practitioners, and fellow researchers.
- To promote interdisciplinary learning and collaboration among doctoral candidates from diverse research domains.
- To foster a network of researchers for ongoing support, mentorship, and collaboration.
